

Kathmandu Durbar Square, Nepal

Kathmandu Durbar Square – Royal Residence of the Nepalese Kings Till 19th Century.

Kathmandu Durbar Square is a very famous spot in Nepal. It is one of three Durbar squares in the place. This popular square holds the palaces of Shah and the Malla kings, who ruled the area. The Kathmandu Durbar Square is also the site of the Hanuman Dhoka Palace Complex. This was the royal residence of the Nepalese King till the 19th century. Important ceremonies were held at this place and the tradition continues to this day. The entire structure of the palace is very beautifully decorated with elaborately carved wood. There are decorative panels and windows as well. The palace consists of the Mahendra Museum and the King Tribhuvan Memorial Museum. Visitors can also pay a visit to the State Rooms that are located inside the palace.

The Kumari Chowk, a popular site, is in the southern part of the Kathmandu Durbar Square. This is considered to be one of the most mysterious attractions of Nepal. There is a glided cage which contains an actual young girl chosen through ancient traditional practices of selection. The girl is considered the human incarnation of the Goddess Durga, the popular Hindu mother goddess. The girl is worshiped during the time of religious festivals.

All the different palaces and temples located here have undergone renovation a number of times, since many of them were damaged and destroyed due to neglect or various other natural causes.

Also See : Top Tourist Attractions in Nepal | Paragliding at Pokhara Valley in Nepal | Kathmandu Valley | 11 Great reasons why you must visit Nepal

Kathmandu Durbar Square Map

Facts about Kathmandu Durbar Square

While written archives do not state this, the construction of Kathmandu Darbar Square is by-and-large attributed to Sankharadev (1069-1083)
The Nepalese monarchs have traditionally been coronated in the Kathmandu Darbar Square. Most of the buildings of the square were constructed between the 15th and the 18th century.

Where is Kathmandu Durbar Square?

The Kathmandu Darbar Square is located in Kathmandu, the capital of Nepal.
Address : Layaku, Kathmandu 44600, Nepal

Best time to visit Kathmandu Durbar Square

The start of the dry season in October-November is the best time to visit as the area is lush green with the monsoon just finishing.

More on Kathmandu Durbar Square

Nearby Locations: Lumbini, Pashupatinath Temple, Patan Darbar Square, Sagaramatha National Park

mapsofworld.com provides Interesting Information about Tourist Destinations from across the world. Visit : <http://www.mapsofworld.com>